Dear Morgan Marsh,

I am writing to express my interest in the Technology Training Program at Dillard's Technology as advertised through my university's career center. I am a junior pursuing a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and a minor in Mathematics at Emory University.

Currently, I am working as a Technical Research Intern as a part of the National Science Foundation's Research Experiences for Undergraduates program. During this experience, I have learned to collaborate with students of varying magnitudes of experiences and work hands-on with technologies at the forefront of the Computer Science field. I am continuously being exposed to new ideas and code that I have to understand, utilize, and adapt to research goals.

Simultaneously, I am working on a project with the Carlos Museum on campus to train recent artificial intelligence models to solve complex problems like detecting language biases and replacing them for inclusivity and diversity goals. I have also gained valuable project management and user interface design skills through my role as an iOS App Development Intern at U.S.A. Boccia where I worked on planning, designing, and developing an app to be used in nationwide Boccia games.

I am particularly drawn to a career at Dillard's due to its prominent position in the fashion retail industry. Dillard's not only provides fashionable quality products, but also prioritizes customer experience through innovative technology solutions. I deeply admire Dillard's rapid expansion in the past few decades through its pioneering use of technology in retail. I believe that my attention to detail, confident communication skills, and friendly collaborative attitude align closely with the company's culture and its commitment to leveraging technology for improving sales.

I am excited to contribute to and learn as much as possible from this experience. I hope to discuss this opportunity with you in more detail soon. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
